LACQUERED IN LUXURY

CHERRY LACQUER

1. Baby Alpaca Cape with Shawl Collar and Belt
CA $1,950 US $1,750
2. Baby Alpaca Mid Length Hooded Wrap Coat
CA $2,190 US $1,990
3. Suri Alpaca Long Shawl Collar Wrap Coat
CA $2,790 US $2,540
4. Baby Alpaca Maxi Double Breasted Peak Collar Coat
CA $2,490 US $2,640

A sophisticated hue with a purple-cast depth, Cherry Lacquer adds a saturated richness to the fall palette. Passionate, polished, and precise, it's winter's boldest brushstroke. Deep yet vibrant, it evokes the allure of fine wine, the softness of velvet, and the luster of a lacquered lip. In the world of SENTALER, Cherry Lacquer isn't a pop of colour - it's a full-on statement.

COLOR THEORY

Unexpected. Unapologetic. This season, SENTALER rewrites the rules of color coordination - deliberately. Bold, unconventional pairings bring fresh depth to outerwear styling; Caramel meets Sea Kelp, Rust softens into Glacial Blue, and Dark Mulberry is elevated by Mauve Pink. These striking contrasts prove that refined layering isn't about matching - it's about mixing with intention. From editorial campaigns to real-world wardrobes, this is color-blocking with a couture twist. These coats aren't just meant to be worn - they're styled with conviction, confidence, and a touch of rebellion.

HIGH CONTRAST

A study in opposites, High Contrast channels the enduring power of Black & White through bold silhouettes and graphic appeal. Oversized houndstooth and exaggerated checks deliver a modernist punch, while micro patterns add subtle sophistication. Classic solid coats in deep Black and soft Ivory ground this fashion story in timeless elegance, and contrast-trimmed styles sharpen the edge. Whether loud or low-key, this trend proves that monochrome is never monotone.

SPAGHETTI ALLA CARBONARA

GIORDANA

SPAGHETTI ALLA CARBONARA

LEVEL: INTERMEDIATE / YIELD: 4-6 SERVINGS / PREP: 10 MINS / COOK: 15 MINS / TOTAL: 25 MINS

INGREDIENTS

- 1 lb dry spaghetti
- 2 tbsp extra-virgin olive oil
- 4 oz pancetta
- 4 garlic cloves, finely chopped
- 2 large eggs
- 1 cup freshly grated Parmigiano-Reggiano
- 1 handful fresh parsley, chopped
- Freshly ground black pepper

DIRECTIONS

Boil a large pot of salted water then add pasta to cook for 8-10 minutes. Drain pasta and save 1/2 cup of starchy pasta water to help the sauce stick to the spaghetti later.

Heat olive oil in a deep pan over medium heat. Add pancetta and sauté for 3 mins until crisp and fat is rendered. Toss garlic in pancetta fat and saute for a minute to soften.

Add the hot spaghetti to pan and toss for 2 minutes to coat spaghetti in the pancetta fat. Beat eggs and cheese in a bowl. Remove pan from heat and pour the egg/cheese mixture into the pasta, whisking quickly until eggs thicken but not scramble. Thin out sauce with a bit of saved pasta water until it reaches desired consistency. Season carbonara with freshly ground black pepper and garnish with fresh parsley.

ITALIAN FOODWAYS WORLDWIDE

The Dispersal of Italian Cuisine(s)

Edited by: Roberta Iannacito-Provenzano & Gabriele Scardellato

IN their global dispersal, both before and after unification, Italians may have carried with them only a memory of a cuisine but, wherever they settled, enclaves or so-called colonie or Little Italies were established and efforts to recreate the memory began. That re-creation, however, always happened in the presence of other cultures and other foodstuffs. At the same time, the culture(s) of origin was far from static with regard to so-called 'traditional' cuisine(s) often itself being exposed to other culinary identities through the import of products and the opening of food shops and restaurants run by migrants settling in Italy.

The notion of the unmistakable identity of Italian foodways globally and their connection to the idea of Italianness led to this publication. This volume brings together scholarly papers on a variety of topics ranging from menus and feasts in Toronto from the Fascist period, Italian foodways in Britain during WWII, Italian cookbooks, the Catelli Pasta Company, menus from Italian restaurants in Tokyo, Italian food branding in North America, the Mediterranean diet, foodways and film, food, immigration and ethnic identity in Ontario and Argentina, the first Italian restaurant in Calgary and the history of the famous Vesuvio restaurant in Toronto.
